

Solid White Pavers

Production of solid white pavers does not include any pigment. The white color is controlled by the raw material white based cement we receive. Therefore, when making a paver white, the white can have cream hues to it and hues can differ in the same run. Tremron Pavers does not guarantee the white to be a pure white paver and as stated earlier can have different hues through the run. We encourage you to order extra material being this product would require a minimum to run again. Also, the solid white coping falls under the same guidelines as above. It is also made in a different plant so the color and hues will be different from the pavers.

I Understand the color of solid white pavers is controlled by raw materials and may cause cream hues. This is not a warrantable item.
